Biography

Aaron Hickok is a Pennsylvania magician who appeared on Penn & Teller: Fool Us while still early in his performing career. Bermudian Springs School District later promoted his return for a live fundraising show, describing a mix of magic and humor. A university-linked record confirms that the matching York Springs student graduated from Millersville University in 2026. No current performer-owned website or public booking channel was located, so contact and service details still need direct verification.
