

Anthony Asimov

"Magic Castle performer and film producer"

Stage Magic

Biography

Anthony Asimov is the stage name of a magician and film producer profiled by Fairleigh Dickinson University. The university says he once worked as a full-time magician and later continued performing at the Magic Castle in Hollywood while pursuing movie production as his principal career. Combined with the verified Fool Us appearance, that source supports a real performer profile. It does not establish a current public booking business, official performer site, home base or service menu, so accepts-gigs is conservatively marked false pending contrary evidence.
