

Ben Train

"Toronto comedy mentalist, twice on Fool Us"

Based in Toronto | Close-Up Magic | Corporate Events | Mentalism | Stage Magic

Biography

Comedy mentalist Ben Train has been featured twice on Penn and Teller's Fool Us, and is co-founder of The Toronto Magic Company. His specialty is comedy mind-reading: on stage he reads guests' thoughts, makes impossible connections and predicts the future, all while the room is laughing along.

Performing over 150 shows a year for corporate audiences, weddings and private events, Ben works close up with magic that happens in guests' hands during cocktail hour, or centre stage in a 50-minute show built for groups of 50 to 1,000. He has lectured to magicians in over 100 cities around the world and consults on magic for film and television, with credits including Amazon's The Boys, Apple TV's Ghostwriter and the feature film Disappearance at Clifton Hill, where he served as Head Magic Consultant.
