

Conan Liu

"Chinese magician creating original visual stage illusions"

Stage Magic

Biography

Conan Liu is a Chinese magician whose international television work includes Penn & Teller: Fool Us. The International Alliance of Chinese Magicians identifies him as a long-time practitioner who began magic in childhood, studied at the Communication University of China and later at the American Film Institute, and received international recognition for originality in 2020. That professional-body source supports a real, active creative identity, but research did not locate a dependable performer-owned website, current booking channel, exact home city, recent public schedule or detailed service menu.
