

Daniel Harel

"Interactive deduction-based mind reading tailored to groups of guests."

Based in New York City | Mentalism | Stage Magic

Biography

Daniel Harel is a New York mentalist whose interactive show places audience members at the center of apparent mind reading. His official site describes more than a decade of performance, television specials, international corporate clients and a technique built around drawing conclusions from subtle cues, delivered with humor and full participation. A second performer-owned page explicitly markets the show for New York City events, and both publish the same booking phone. Harel's current media includes Penn & Teller: Fool Us, supporting an active event and stage profile.
