

Dante Mancini

"San Jose magician and family entertainer"

Based in San Jose | Close-Up Magic | Kids & Family

Biography

Dante began studying magic and sleight of hand at the age of nine at the world famous "Tannen's Magic Camp", alongside training in theater and improvisation, later circus, drama and dance, before studying theater and theatrical design at NYU's Tisch School of the Arts.

That mix of stagecraft and close-up skill shapes an act that specializes in creating unforgettable events for family audiences, with children and grown-ups drawn in together. Dante has worked on thousands of live events between San Francisco and LA, appeared in music videos, television and commercials, and played himself on the Emmy nominated television show "Hip Hop Harry". He performed aboard the Queen Mary, where he met his wife, and is now based in San Jose, entertaining at parties and local school and community events.
