

David Frank

"New York strolling magician and mentalist"

Based in New York | Close-Up Magic | Corporate Events | Mentalism

Biography

Magician and mentalist David Frank has spent over a decade captivating global audiences with world-class sleight of hand, and strolling magic is his favourite way to work a room. He mingles with guests, performing close-up magic and mentalism for individual groups

Based in the heart of New York City, David also works on Wall Street, and at Cornell University he founded the Cornell Magic Society and created two university-accredited courses in the art and history of magic. That blend of business savvy and magical prowess earned him a spotlight in The Economist. His original, witty performances suit cocktail parties, galas, banquets, holiday parties and corporate events, where the magic often ends up right in the guests' own hands.
