

George Hunt

"Tablesides close-up magician"

Based in Bristol | Close-Up Magic

Biography

George Hunt performs friendly, interactive magic close up and tablesides, the kind that happens in the middle of a room rather than at a distance from it. Guests are drawn in a few inches from the moves, and the entertainment travels with him from table to table as the evening goes on.

The act is built for parties, dinners and drinks receptions, where it fills the gaps between courses and warms up a room of strangers. George also performs public shows on stage, and teaches the craft: he has given lessons to more than 150 people, from one-on-one sessions and small groups to workshops of thirty.
