"Norwegian prediction magic shaped by cards, poker and puzzles"

Based in Oslo | Close-Up Magic | Mentalism

Biography

Hans Petter Secker is a Norwegian magician, poker player and card-cheating specialist whose work combines prediction, mathematical structure and gaming knowledge. His performer-controlled site documents magic and poker demonstrations, while national reporting confirms two Fool Us appearances and a trophy-winning rock-paper-scissors prediction developed over several years. A 2025-26 City of Oslo cultural-fund record identifies him in a current leadership role for a public magic-community project, supporting an active Oslo connection. Research did not locate a current event-booking page or direct professional contact, so general commercial availability should not be inferred.
