

Hélder Guimarães

"Multidisciplinary artist combining magic, humor and storytelling"

Based in Los Angeles | Close-Up Magic

Biography

Hélder Guimarães is a multidisciplinary artist who works where magic, humour and storytelling meet, building them into theatre shows, immersive experiences, special exhibitions and digital performances.

Rather than a run of tricks, his performances are built like theatre: a story carries the evening and the impossible arrives inside it, with humour setting the pace. The range of forms he works in - a staged show, an immersive piece, an exhibition, a performance made for a screen - means the same voice reaches a seated theatre audience and a room of guests moving through a space. That adaptability suits galas, corporate gatherings and private celebrations as readily as a theatre run.
