Biography

Henry Evans is the professional name of Argentine magician, creator and teacher Hernán Nogueira. His official site documents a long competition career culminating in the 2000 FISM world title, alongside active shows, online classes and a large catalogue of original magic. Evans is especially associated with inventive card methods and routines designed to look direct while hiding layered construction. He won a Fool Us trophy in 2024. A performer-controlled email and phone support international teaching and performance enquiries, while the strongest sources identify Argentina but not one dependable current home city.
