

James More

"British large-scale illusion with speed, danger and arena energy"

Based in London | Stage Illusion | Stage Magic

Biography

James More is a London-based British stage illusionist known for high-energy large-scale magic, visual effects and extreme stunts. His current agency biography traces a career from the original Fool Us pilot and Britain's Got Talent to The Illusionists, Broadway and performances across five continents and fifty countries. More offers customizable stage and intimate illusion for corporations, after-dinner programs, award ceremonies and media appearances, with branding and product integration available. A direct agency email and phone support international bookings. Research did not locate a dependable current performer-owned website, so the professional agency should remain the primary operational link.
