

Jason Suran

"Soho House artist-in-residence, New York mentalist"

Based in New York | Mentalism

Biography

Straddling the line between arresting honesty and deft deception, Jason Suran has become one of the most in-demand mentalists in America - a skeptic himself, who firmly insists he is not a psychic, all while naming the word in a guest's head or the name of their first kiss. People magazine has called his work "jaw dropping"; the Daily Mail, "a must see".

Suran serves as artist-in-residence at the world-famous Soho House, and in 2021 the New York Times named him an "Up Next" artist to watch for his groundbreaking one-man show Reconnected, produced by Alan Cumming and performed over 1,000 times for audiences all over the world. His work suits galas, corporate events and private celebrations where guests end up part of the show.
