

Javier Natera

"Contemporary participatory illusion built around shared attention and impact"

Close-Up Magic | Mentalism | Stage Magic

Biography

Javier Natera is a contemporary illusionist who designs participatory magic for teams and live audiences. His performer-controlled site offers stage mentalism, close-up encounters and event work built from scratch for the goals and setting of each client, emphasizing active participation over passive watching. Natera also creates commercial card magic for other performers and appeared on Penn & Teller: Fool Us with an interactive card effect. The current official enquiry route supports professional availability, while the evidence does not clearly establish a home city, broad service territory, direct public email or a detailed recent performance calendar.
