

Lewis Starnes

"Breezy London card magic informed by advertising and everyday choices"

Based in London, UK | Close-Up Magic | Comedy Magic

Biography

Lewis Starnes is a London magician and advertising strategist who appeared remotely on Penn & Teller: Fool Us in 2021. His television introduction connected professional work studying consumer decisions with an interest in the nudges and choices that shape magic, while the performed card routine drew praise for its relaxed, funny pub-magician character. Research did not locate a reliable current performer website, recent public magic engagement, professional booking route, direct contact or exact home city. The profile is eligible because the television appearance is verified, but it should remain documentary rather than presenting Starnes as an active bookable entertainer.

Booking, profile, and official links

Booking enquiries are subject to current tour availability.

Booking enquiry <https://findmagic.show/lewis-starnes#enquire>

FindMagic profile <https://findmagic.show/lewis-starnes>