

Magic Dude

"Kansas City close-up shaped by decades of audience contact"

Close-Up Magic

Biography

Todd Lamanske, also billed as Magic Dude, is a Kansas City-area magician with longstanding local and national recognition. A regional business organization booked him for a 2019 holiday event and described him as a local entertainer with a wider reputation, while the Fool Us ledger verifies his 2017 television appearance. Industry references associate him with award-winning sleight of hand and restaurant magic. Research did not find a durable current official website, direct booking contact, recent public calendar or sufficiently fresh evidence of ongoing professional availability, so the profile should remain factual and non-bookable.
