

Matt Baker

"Atlanta mathemagic that turns advanced ideas into playful impossible predictions."

Based in Atlanta | Close-Up Magic | Mentalism

Biography

Matt Baker is an Atlanta mathematician and magician whose original performance work grows from number theory, combinatorics and hidden structural principles. He is a Georgia Tech professor by day and a two-time Greater Atlanta Magician of the Year, offering sophisticated parlor magic, close-up performance and lectures through his official site. Baker appeared on Fool Us in 2023 with a mathematical prediction routine. Current 2026 university coverage confirms continuing public mathemagic work and leadership in the first International Conference on Mathematics and Magic. A booking form supports engagements, while no separate public booking email is listed.
