Biography

Nate Dendy is a New York actor, magician, writer and illusion designer whose career joins live performance with behind-the-scenes magic creation. His official biography records professional magic since adolescence, a Brown University acting MFA and collaborations with Jim Steinmeyer, Johnny Thompson and Teller. Current institutional credits include stage acting and magic design for Netflix, Broadway and regional theatre. Dendy also offers private and corporate magic and develops effects for theatre and television. The available site establishes New York as home, though it does not publish a direct booking email.
