

Peter Din

"Children's magician and ventriloquist"

Based in Paris | Close-Up Magic | Kids & Family | Stage Magic

Biography

Peter Din is an actor, magician and stage director with classical professional training, who brings magic and ventriloquism together for the youngest audiences.

In Le magicien voyageur, scarves, flowers and cards appear in the hands of a slightly clumsy magician, while his ventriloquist routines with Bobby the dog leave them speechless. Children are never only spectators: Peter Din believes each child should take hold of the moment on stage and become the centre of the story, so laughter, poetry and easy complicity build trust before the show begins. Between comedy and magic, by way of tenderness, he has set young children dreaming, and perhaps their parents too. The act suits family shows and children's parties, particularly for ages three to six.
