

Reuben Moreland

"Close-up miracles wrapped in awkward comedy and candid storytelling"

Based in New York City | Close-Up Magic | Comedy Magic

Biography

Reuben Moreland is a comedy magician whose intimate shows mix close-up impossibilities with deliberately awkward humor and candid storytelling. His current official site promotes an Adelaide Fringe production built around friendship, art and childhood experience, following earlier success with The Purple Rabbit and an appearance on Fool Us. The small-room format places spectators close to the action and gives the performance a conversational edge. A performer-controlled contact page publishes both a direct email and United States phone number, confirming current professional availability, although the site does not establish one reliable year-round home city.
