

Reynold Alexander

"Guinness record-breaking illusionist"

Close-Up Magic | Stage Illusion | Stage Magic

Biography

Illusionist Reynold Alexander broke a Guinness world record escaping from a regulation straitjacket, and has caught a marked bullet fired from a Magnum .357 revolver in his teeth. He has been invited to perform at the world-famous Magic Castle in Hollywood, headlined his own show "Magia" in Las Vegas, and collaborated with David Copperfield on a special act for his Las Vegas show.

A two-time First Place winner for "Stage Magic" with the Society of Young Magicians, Reynold Alexander has since performed in over twenty countries. He made the Capitol Building of Puerto Rico vanish before a live audience on television in 2005 and recreated the Chinese Water Torture Cell escape made famous by Harry Houdini to a full house at the Centro de Bellas Artes de Santurce. Audiences are left with one question: how did he do it. He has been hired by prestigious companies worldwide and also works as a motivational speaker.
