

Roddy McGhie

"Glasgow invention turning everyday objects into visual impossibilities"

Based in Glasgow | Close-Up Magic

Biography

Roddy McGhie is a Glasgow magician, creator and consultant known for quirky, highly visual close-up effects. His current Penguin Magic catalogue includes original releases built around cards, coins, rings, markers, stickers and impossible souvenirs, along with a full professional lecture. An industry profile traces his background from punk music into magic and describes a humorous performance style shaped by hand-built gimmicks and advisory work for other performers. Current product activity establishes an active creative career, but research did not verify a working official performer site, recent public shows or general event-booking availability.
