

Seren & Nathan

"Manchester video creators engineered one remarkably technical card experiment"

Based in Manchester | Stage Magic

Biography

Seren and Nathan are Manchester-based video creators who designed and performed the technology-driven card routine seen on Fool Us in 2023. In a performer-authored discussion after broadcast, Nathan explained their audition process and explicitly said the pair were not professional magicians or performers. Their appearance nevertheless establishes a real, profile-eligible creative act, built through software, careful video production and an engaging story about an apparently overcomplicated card experiment. Research found no continuing entertainment career, official magician website, public shows or booking route, so the record should remain a non-bookable television profile.
