

SORA

"Cheeky Japanese prediction magic with an unexpected reveal"

Mentalism | Stage Magic

Biography

SORA is the stage name of Japanese magician Daiki Fujimori. An official Britain's Got Talent profile identifies him as a Tokyo performer who began magic at seven and had already worked professionally for nine years before his 2018 audition. His comic prediction routine, built around an unexpected costume reveal, later reached Fool Us in 2020. These broadcast sources confirm identity, specialty and substantial performance experience, but research did not find a reliable current performer-owned site, direct booking contact, exact present home base or recent schedule. The FindMagic record should remain non-bookable pending confirmation.
