

The Clairvoyants

"Stage Magicians of the Year"

Based in Las Vegas | Mentalism | Stage Illusion

Biography

The Clairvoyants are Thommy Ten and Amélie van Tass, a mentalism duo whose show "Dreifach Zauberhaft" premiered in 2024, built on more than 500 performances in Las Vegas and a sold-out North American tour. Its creative team brings together Lady Gaga's costume designer, the director of America's Got Talent and designers from Cirque du Soleil.

The act pairs mind reading with illusions created specially for the show, and a third performer: their dog, Mr. Koni Hundini, who reads an audience member's thoughts on stage. In 2021 the pair became the first magicians ever to play the world-famous Wiener Staatsoper, with a show created for the occasion, "Magic in Vienna", tracing the great Viennese magicians of the fin de siècle. In 2023 they toured the United States with "Holiday Spectacular", a festive stage show of mentalism and interactive feats for audiences of every age.
