

Thomas Solomon

"Thinking-person magic fused with modern full-view escape artistry"

Stage Magic

Biography

Thomas Solomon is an American magician and escape artist whose work combines sleight of hand, theatrical illusion and full-view releases from handcuffs, restraints, cells, boxes and underwater structures. His current official site states that most performances are private corporate events and provides a booking form answered by a representative. Solomon's long career includes television specials, Off-Broadway work, cruise entertainment and major public escapes, while his Fool Us appearance focused on original magic rather than a stunt. Research confirms active bookings but does not state one precise current home city or direct email.
