

Todd Day

"Award-winning New York City magician"

Close-Up Magic | Corporate Events | Parlour Magic

Biography

Award-winning magician Todd Day has been immersed in magic since the age of six, and received his professional training at The Magic Castle in Hollywood, where he is a magician member of the Academy of Magical Arts and remains a regular performer.

His magic is built around the people watching it: guests are invited to participate, choose a card, think of someone meaningful or share a special date, so that they become part of the show rather than an audience for it. He scales the work to the room, from close-up performances for smaller audiences to strolling magic, parlour and stage shows, making him a fit for trade shows, conferences, conventions, weddings, private parties and corporate events. In New York he also performs live close-up magic in the private screening rooms at Metro Private Cinema before the film begins.
