

Will Coile

"Cannes and Sundance magician"

Based in Los Angeles

Biography

A magician challenging the status quo, Will Coile builds his work around imagination and mystery rather than the familiar props of the trade. His magic asks a room to consider what might be possible, then leaves everyone happily unable to explain what they have just seen.

Coile has performed internationally in Amsterdam and at the Cannes Film Festival, SXSW and Sundance, as well as for Soho Houses around the world. Artists and guests who have seen a great deal and still enjoy being surprised. That mix of festival audiences and Soho House rooms translates easily to galas, company parties, product launches and weddings, where the work lands as well close-up among guests as it does with the whole room watching.
