

Zak Riback

"Magic Castle's youngest magician"

Based in Los Angeles | Close-Up Magic | Parlour Magic

Biography

At fifteen, Zak Riback is the youngest performer at the Magic Castle in Hollywood, where he appears monthly in the brunch shows. He started magic at three years old and turned professional at twelve, and his work blends classic effects with fresh, creative touches built on sleight of hand, card magic and coin magic.

Guests meet the magic at close range: interactive routines that happen right in their own hands, illusions performed inches away, and high-energy stage magic that plays to a large room with laughter and spectacle. His quick wit and easy rapport with children and adults alike suit charity events, birthday parties and private celebrations, and leave audiences talking long after the show.
